

Silvertongue Now Available in Scandinavian Market

Silvertongue expanded operations into the Scandinavian market today with the announcement of a new distribution partner 'HABIMAT'.

Founded in 2004, HABIMAT is a professional telecommunications company supplying the B2B market with a large range of telephony products, throughout Scandinavia.

The expansion of Silvertongue into Scandinavia ensures headset users are provided with the very best in acoustic safety with the technologically advanced Soundshield 3G and a world class range of Silvertongue and Soundpro headset and amplifier products, introduced into a region that is renowned for the quality and safety of its home grown products.

Paul Abley, Business Development Manager, Silvertongue EMEA commented 'This is an exciting step for Silvertongue! This sleek, world class product range is now available in a market that has been grown with safety at the forefront of everything it does. We are pleased to have signed the distribution agreement with HABIMAT and look forward to assisting them with the introduction of the Silvertongue product range across Scandinavia'.

The Silvertongue product range includes Soundshield 3G, an award winning acoustic safety device which protects call centre agents wearing headsets, from excessive noise levels, and unexpected high pitched tones that cause acoustic shock. Soundshield 3G also ensures compliance with EU health & safety regulations by capturing capture noise exposure data, and providing results in a format that can be downloaded and archived.

Peder Norgaard, Managing Director at HABIMAT added 'We recognised the quality of the Silvertongue product range and opened discussions with the company immediately, it wasn't until this point that we found out that not only are Silvertongue confident their products are good, they also back it up with a 5 year warranty!!'.
